Many people will live as my nephew has died, the accident in Florida killed him, but not before doctors could harvest his organs. What he did was a selfless act, by being an organ donor. A great topic and one highlight from your post rings so true & so close to home for me: The mention of my H as a stranger. I recall on a few occasions, telling our marriage counselor that 'this is not my husband, he wouldn't do this to me, or us, or his children' (putting HIMSELF first,) i still find that hard to believe. The first few days after your mother dies are going to feel like a blur. You will function only in that you will make funeral arrangements, contact relatives, console family members, and go forward taking care of necessary tasks. Women are accorded the greatest respect in Vedas. No religion, philosophy or even modern feminism can match the same. Presented here are verses from Vedas...
